Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 23-40 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 23-44 of copending Application No. 10/572,350. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the entire scope of the claims appear to be wholly contained within the scope of the claims of the '350 application.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 23-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tuck '622 in view of Burckhardt '047. Tuck shows a hydromechanical transmission with a torque converter 12, 14, and 18 with back gear sets 52 (on shaft 51), 54 and 50, 52 (the 52 on shaft 42), each of which is parallel, coaxial and comprised of spur gears. Clutches 58 and 46 are provided for alternately engaging the back gear sets to output shaft 41. A third back gear set 38, 40 is provided with clutch 44. Tuck does not show a brake for the secondary input 32. Tuck also does not show the specific kinds of clutches recited in the claims. Burckhardt shows a hydromechanical transmission in figure 2 that shows third clutch 128 for directly connecting the first input to the output 127. Burckhardt shows a brake 13 for the pump of the torque converter. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in this art to provide a brake on the turbine output of the torque converter because it would be merely combining prior art elements according to known methods to yield a predictable result. It would have been further obvious to provide a third clutch between the primary input and the output as taught by Burckhardt because it would have also been merely combining prior art elements according to known methods to yield a predictable result. It would have also been obvious to one of ordinary skill in this art to form the output with the second output from the back gear set 50, 52 because it would have been obvious to try something like that since there are finite number of solutions possible and they are all identifiable, predictable with a reasonable expectation of success. Further, the use of any particular kind of clutch would merely be a design choice for anyone of ordinary skill in this art and would further be a simple substitution of one known element for another to obtain a predictable result.
